

Presidency

Section Three [of the 14th Amendment] encompasses the office of the Presidency and someone who has taken an oath as President.

On this point, the district court committed a reversible error.

Anderson v. Griswold, majority decision, Supreme Court of the State of Colorado