

Presidential immunity from criminal prosecution

I think it's paradoxical to say that his constitutional duty to take care that the laws be faithfully executed allows him to violate criminal law.

Karen LeCraft Henderson, a judge on the United States Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia Circuit, responding to a claim by Trump's lawyers that presidents cannot be criminally prosecuted for official acts performed while they were in office once they have left it, unless they had been impeached and convicted for the acts before leaving it
