

Public discourse

Following Trump's victory,
an ancient Greek term suddenly suddenly re-entered English usage:
demophobia – literally fear of the mob.
What it conveys is cold feet
about democracy.

...

The Trump era's changing vocabulary also includes a word of more recent coinage: oikophobia, literally
an aversion to home surroundings.
In reality, it means fear of your own people – the opposite of xenophobia.

Edward Luce,
The Retreat of Western Liberalism