

Punt returners say

Well, there's truth to that.
There is truth to that.
There are certainly no corners.
And you look,
there's a certain openness.
But there's nobody out there.
You know, there is an openness,
but I've never seen anybody
out there actually.

Donald Trump,
pointing to a window in the Oval Office,
thereby fumbling his response to a request to reflect on George W. Bush's comment that the Oval Office is round and has no corners to hide in, meaning accountability ends there