

Science

Science cannot replace politics.
When we come to decide on policy, we have to take into account many interests and values, and since there is no scientific way to determine which interests and values are more important, there is no scientific way to decide what we should do.

Yuval Harari,
Financial Times, February 26, 2021