

Selfie

I was a strong supporter of the second amendment before the shooting and, frankly, as ardent as ever after the shooting in part because I was saved by people who had guns.

Steve Scalise, after he and five others were shot during a practice session for the annual congressional baseball game in June, 2017, by a leftist extremist, who was shot dead on the scene by law enforcement officers