

Snapshot

[He] made even the most concrete things seem like abstractions. ...

His mind is like a light which destroys the outlines of what it plays upon;
there is much illumination, but you see very little.

Woodrow Wilson
portrayed by Herbert Croly