

Socio-economic mobility

[I]n countries without elite universities, it's rare for one class to capture the national heights: careers are decided more in adulthood, by which time people's trajectories depend slightly more on their achievements than on their parents.

Simon Kuper,
Financial Times, August 1, 2019