

Technology

Eliezer Yudkowsky, co-founder of the Machine Intelligence Research Institute, reckons that an alarmingly different kind of Moore's Law is at work today: the minimum IQ needed to destroy the world drops by one point every 18 months.

John Thornhill,
Financial Times, May 13, 2021