Jenny Hopkinson, a Politico reporter, obtained the curricula vitae of the new Trump people.

Into USDA [Dept. of Agriculture] jobs, some of which paid $80,000 a year, the Trump team had inserted a long-haul truck driver, a clerk at AT&T, a gas-company meter reader, a country club cabana attendant, a Republican National Committee intern, and the owner of a scented candle company, with skills like "pleasant demeanor" listed on their r sum .
