

Trumpism

Liberals and Democrats in particular need to distinguish between their ongoing battle with Republican policies and the challenge posed by Trump and his followers.

One can be fought through the processes of the constitutional system; the other is an assault on the Constitution itself.

Robert Kagan,
Washington Post, September 23, 2021