

Trumpism

The Republican Party was built on a coalition of the nation's biggest winners from globalization and its biggest losers.

The winners wrote the policy; the losers provided the votes.

While the party leaders coalesced upon more immigration, less secure health coverage, and one more Bush, the rank and file were frantically signaling: less immigration, better health coverage, and no more Bushes.

David Frum, Trumpocracy