

Trumpism

What we're seeing,
I liken it to a land, sea and air attack.
The land attack is on voting rights.
That is one of the ways that you begin to undermine democracy.

The sea attack are these attacks against teaching critical race theory and "divisive" topics, so you can erase people from American history and erase the role of various people in American history.
And the air attack is the loosening of gun laws that we're seeing in Texas, Tennessee and Georgia.
This is a full-blown assault on American democracy that's going after voting rights, that's going after education and that is reinforcing political violence as an acceptable method of bringing about your political aims.

Carol Anderson,
New York Times Magazine, March 20, 2022