

Trumpists say

There will be no difference between the president's position and our position as to how to handle this.

[Senate Republicans will be] in total coordination with the White House counsel's office and the people representing the president in the well of the Senate.

Mitch McConnell, on letting Trump set the rules for his impeachment trial in the Senate