

Truth

When attention is your currency, the difference between the true and the false matters much less than the difference between the compelling and the boring.

Megan Garber,
The Atlantic, January/February 2024