

Voter suppression

I had to put the $42
where it would do the most good.
We couldn't eat the birth certificate.

An elderly African-American Texas woman living on a monthly income of $321
who was disenfranchised
because she couldn't afford to pay for a copy of her birth certificate,
which Texas requires to get a voter ID

Quoted in
The Great Suppression, by Zachary Roth