

War

Profits and death grow marginal:
Only the mourning and the mourned recall
The wars we lose, the wars we win;
And the world is — what it has been.

Randall Jarrell,
"The Range in the Desert"