

Warfare

[T]he technologies of warfare are more effective than ever before, but there is less warfare in the world, based on casualties as a percentage of population, than ever before.

Where this will lead is impossible to predict.

Alex Roland,
*War and Technology