

Writing

I think if you write things, you do find yourself thinking, concretely,
in a way you don't normally.
You have to find concrete expression for things that have been amorphous up to that point.
Writing is thinking.

Michael Frayn